ballot for granted, as we took the fresh air and the sunshine and the bread we ate for granted; but the enemy showed us that we can take nothing for granted.

We had the right to vote; we had always possessed that right and we felt we would always possess it. For all of that, it was a casual act, and if we had nothing better to do, we voted: otherwise, we didn't.

And then we learned that there are no rights but those for which we pay in blood. And in blood we paid!

The price was high, but all good things come dearly; and if we never knew before what the ballot meant, surely we know now. Surely we were taught what the right to vote means. Surely, in all the history of this

Lt. Col. John S. Rice Visits Friends Here

Lt. Col. John S. Rice, West Broadway, visited friends in Gettysburg today, on a two-day leave from his duties at the Manchester, New Hampshire, air base.

Lt. Col. Rice, who was president of Rice, Trew and Rice, Biglerville basket-liner concern when he entered service in May, 1942, is now chief of personnel of the North Atlantic Division of the Air Transport Command. His duties require him to visit air bases in various parts of the world and he has made numerous crossings of the Atlantic

Approximately half of the workers reported their memberships on Wednesday. All had been requested to do so. However, with the above total officers of the association expressed confidence today that the 550 goal will be reached by Saturday evening when the drive closes.

It was emphasized today that memberships for the three concerts are available only, and that no single admissions will be sold for any of the three concerts. Those interested in joining the association and who have not been contacted by any of the volunteer workers are urged to call or phone the association headquarters in the lobby of the Hotel Gettysburg before Saturday evening.

Approve First Artist

Music lovers expressed their approval of the selection of Donald Dame, Metropolitan Opera tenor, as one of the artists who will give a recital here this winter. Artists for the other two concerts will be selecter at the close of the drive.

Workers were being urged today to make daily reports to headquarters in order that the process of computing the tax, which is included in the total fee, the bookkeeping procedure and other miscellaneous duties involved with each member

With not more than one-half of the volunteer workers reporting the Gettysburg Concert association's 1944 series has a membership of 227, the mid-week check-up revealed Wednesday.

Approximately half of the workers reported their memberships on Wednesday. All had been requested to do so. However, with the above total officers of the association expressed confidence today that the 550 goal will be reached by Saturday evening when the drive closes.

It was emphasized today that memberships for the three concerts are available only, and that no single admissions will be sold for any of the three concerts. Those interested in joining the association and who have not been contacted by any of the volunteer workers are urged to call or phone the association headquarters in the lobby of the Hotel Gettysburg before Saturday evening.

Approve First Artist

Workers were being urged today to make daily reports to headquarters in order that the process of computing the tax, which is included in the total fee, the bookkeeping procedure and other miscellaneous duties involved with each member Bible had died before medical aid The new "A" basic gasoline ration may be computed and completed

As a matter of fact there are increasing signs that Hutler's remaining strength may shortly be put to the supreme test of concerted allout offensive in both eastern, and western Europe. The defense upon which the Fuehrer is depending heavily is to impede Allied preparations until the bad weather comes to his rescue.

Ruthless Sacrifice

As for Azchen, it has been no easy nut to crack. The Nazis picked it for defensive purposes because it's a railway and highway center, and because it lies in a hollow and is surrounded by heights—a strong point by nature. It's a shield for neighboring Cologne and the gateway into the Ruhr.

The battle of Aachen gives us useful guidance on several important questions. For one thing it emphasizes that Hitler intends to fight to a bloody finish, ruthlessly sacrificing not only military but civilian lives, and inviting the destruction of proud cities like this one-time center of culture for western Europe.

Again it is demonstrated that the Nazi attila has fanatical commanding officers who are ready to do his The German command in Aachen did their best—or one might better say their most cruel worstto prevent the surrender not only of their soldiers but of civilians before the American ultimatum expired.

Peace and Security

Today America stands at the crossroads of her destiny.

The President cannot bring an enduring peace with an antagonistic Congress. Such a Congress would inevitably plow and seed the ground for another war.

The European war is in its final phase. Your congressional vote will determine whether or not we have fought in vain. Because your new Congress will wield more power-for good or evil-than any Congress in the history of this country.

Your new Congress holds the future of America in its hands. What that future will be is solely up to you. If you elect the wrong men-men who cannot or will not act for the good of the whole nation . . . who have only the interests of themselves, their party, and their bitter prejudice at heart-then you may as well discount the victory as so much waste of blood and material.

Today we, a group of businessmen, of this Congressional district, consider it a privilege and our duty to support Josiah W. Gitt for Congress.

His record of public service speaks for itself. An enduring peace and the economic security of this nation are his paramount objectives.

When you go to the polls this November, remember there are issues far more vital to you than oratorical bombast, glowing and impossible promises, and petty criticisms. Your vote holds the future of your country at stake.

Peace and Security

Today America stands at the crossroads of her destiny.

The President cannot bring an enduring peace with an antagonistic Congress. Such a Congress would inevitably plow and seed the ground for another war.

The European war is in its final phase. Your congressional vote will determine whether or not we have fought in vain. Because your new Congress will wield more power-for good or evil-than any Congress in the history of this country.

Your new Congress holds the future of America in its hands. What that future will be is solely up to you. If you elect the wrong men-men who cannot or will not act for the good of the whole nation . . . who have only the interests of themselves, their party, and their bitter prejudice at heart—then you may as well discount the victory as so much waste of blood and material.

Today we, a group of businessmen, of this Congressional district, consider it a privilege and our duty to support Josiah W. Gitt for Congress.

His record of public service speaks for itself. An enduring peace and the economic security of this nation are his paramount objectives.

When you go to the polls this November, remember there are issues far more vital to you than oratorical bombast, glowing and impossible promises, and petty criticisms. Your vote holds the future of your country at stake.

The Army newspaper Red Star reported Soviet tank forces pushing down two highways toward Memel -one leading into the port from the north from captured Palange, and the other the Memel-Tilsit highway north of the Niemen. German forces being compressed into the triangle formed by Memel, a tinhy strip of southwestern Lithuania and the Niemen nort's of Tilsit included a large number of tankmen and crews of self-propelled guns, who have lost their weapons. Badly battered infantry forces also were believed in the newly-developing pocket. Attack Shipping

Red Air Force bombers and fighters attacked German shipping at Memel and Riga, with low-flying Stormoviks joining the assaults on transports and warships in both harbors. Other aircraft bombed and strafed convoys and individual vessels off the coast from north of Memel to Konigsberg.

At Riga, advance armored units were reported probing the city's outer defenses in repeated strikes. More than 300 towns and villages were reported captured north and southeast of Memel as the Russians advance. Meanwhile, on the Yugoslav-Hungarian front, one Soviet column was reported fighting in the outskirts of the Hungarian city of Debrecen, a communications hub controlling international routes to Czechoslovakia, Poland and Ro-

FAR - REACHING RESULTS SEEN AFTER MOSCOW

(Associated Press War Analyst) conference in Moscow between Mar- debt. shal Stalin and British Prime Minreaching events of the war.

News dispatches from the Soviet trict ended its bonded indebtedness. capital say it's believed the meeting arranged at the suggestion of the ill-will deal with the final assault one-pound loaves of bread. on Germany, with the military occupation of the defeated Reich, and with many European political questions. Russia's possible entry into the war against Japan also might be discussed.

All that sounds reasonable enough. but thus far details are sub rosa. I don't know what these representstives of Europe's greatest powers are talking about. But I think I know what they OUGHT to be talking about-and that's the vastly altered post-war spheres of influence of their giant empires.

No more important or delicate question has grown out of the European conflict. There are innumerable angles to the situation, but they're all part and parcel of this momentous and fundamental fact: That whereas Britain prior to the war was the dominant power of Europe. Soviet Russia is now emerging in this role.

Epochal Change This isn't an isolated viewpoint, but one widely accepted. None less than the famous Field Marshal Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa and member of the British War Cabinet, nearly a year ago in London declared that the end of postilities in which "three of the five great powers in Europe will have disappeared" (meaning France, Italy and Germany) Russia will "be mistress of the continent."

As I see it, the manner in which this epochal change is met will go far toward determining whether the peace hopes of Dumbarion Oaks are to be realized. Fortunately we are encouraged to expect a favorable outcome, in view of the cordial and frank relations between Messrs. Churchill and Stalin-two of the greatest figures of our time. It seems highly significant that twice during yesterday's opening banquet Stalin rose to emphasize the ties binding Russia to her western allies He praised the mar contributions of Uncle Sam and John Bull and toasted post-war collaboration.

Obviously John Bull will find it tough to see his badge as gendarme of Europe pinned on the broad chest of another. Still, as things now stand it's one of those inevitable developments which can be met successfully only by the exercise of great common sense on both sides. Most Delicate Point

Russia's increasingly dominant mest on is too clear-cut to need detailed comment here. It's solid in eastern Europe, from Finland on the north right down through the Balkans. Powerfully, though in lesser degree, it sweeps westward clear to the English channel. And in the Far East the Soviet's new power is immense.

Probably the most delicate of all points to be ironed out revolves about Russia's apparent intention to control free passage of the Dardanelles and so emerge from the Black segiasja Mediterranean power. That has been the brightest jewel in Britain's crown of influence. It has been her control of the strategic Mediterranean zone which has made her the dominant power of Europa. Indeed, it also has made her mistress of the Middle East and has been vital to her position in the Far East. Well that's the essence of the world's biggest political problem. It's solution depends on the ability of the major powers-mainly Britain and Russia—to adjust themselves to the inevitable. But that's not too big a task if it's attacked on a give and take basis.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12 (AP)-Mayor Bernard Samuel urges all citizens to "make home Bible reading an American habit and add to that regular worship in a house of prayer! He made the statement in connection with National Bible Week which opened resterday.

As I see it, the manner in which this epochal change is met will go far toward determining whether the peace hopes of Dumbarton Oaks are to be realized. Fortunately we are encouraged to expect a favorable outcome, in view of the cordial and frank relations between Messrs. Churchill and Stalin-two of the greatest figures of our time. It seems highly significant that twice during yesterday's opening banquet Stalin rose to emphasize the ties binding Russia to her western allies He praised the war contributions of Uncle Sam and John Bull and toasted post-war collaboration.

Obviously John Bull will find it tough to see his badge as gendarme of Europe pinned on the broad chest of another. Still, as things now nd it's one of those inevitable developments which can be met successfully only by the exercise of great common sense on both sides.

Most Delicate Point

Russia's increasingly dominant question is too clear-cut to need detailed comment here. It's solid in eastern Europe, from Finland on the north right down through the Balkans. Powerfully, though in lesser degree, it sweeps westward clear to the English channel. And in the Far East the Soviet's new power is Probably the most delicate of all points to be ironed out revolves about Russia's apparent intention to control free passage of the Dardanelles and so emerge from the Black seg as a Mediterranean power. That has been the brightest jewel in Britain's crown of influence. It has been her control of the strategic Mediterranean zone which has made her the dominant power of Europe. Indeed, it also has made her mistress of the Middle East and has been vital to her position in the Far East.

Well, that's the essence of the world's biggest political problem. It's solution depends on the ability of the major powers-mainly Britain and Russia-to adjust themselves to the inevitable. But that's not too big a task if it's attacked on a give and take basis.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12 (AP)-Mayor Bernard Samuel urges all citizens to "make home Bible reading an American habit and add to that regular worship in a house of prayer.' He made the statement in connection with National Bible Week which opened yesterday.

Russia's possible entry into the war against Japan also might be discussed. All that sounds reasonable enough, but thus far details are sub rosa. I don't know what these representatives of Europe's greatest powers are talking about. But I think I know what they OUGHT to be talking about—and that's the vastly altered post-war spheres of influence of their giant empires.

No more important or delicate question has grown out of the European conflict. There are innumerable angles to the situation, but they're all part and parcel of this momentous and fundamental fact: That whereas Britain prior to the war was the dominant power of Europe, Soviet Russia is now emerging in this role.

Epochal Change

This isn't an isolated viewpoint, but one widely accepted. None less than the famous Field Marshal Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa and member of the British War Cabinet, nearly a year ago in London declared that the end of hostilities in which "three of the five great powers in Europe will have disappeared" (meaning France, Italy and Germany) Russia will "be mistress of the continent.'

As I see it, the manner in which this epochal change is met will go far toward determining whether the peace hopes of Dumbarton Oaks are to be realized. Fortunately we are encouraged to expect a favorable outcome, in view of the cordial and frank relations between Messrs. Churchill and Stalin-two of the greatest figures of our time. It seems highly significant that twice during yesterday's opening banquet Stalin rose to emphasize the ties binding Russia to her western allies He praised the war contributions of Uncle Sam and John Bull and toasted post-war collaboration.
